

JACK PICKFORD FLEES PARIS AS OFFICIALS PROBE WIFE'S DEATH

Reported to Have Flown to London in Airplane; Members of Party Disappear

AUTHORITIES ORDER AUTOPSY TO DETERMINE CAUSE OF DEATH

Suicide Theory Abandoned by Police Officials

PARIS, Sept. 13.—An examination of the body of Olive Thomas was ordered to determine whether the actress died from the effects of mercury or from a slow, insidious poison which might have been administered previously or taken by mistake. It was stated today by a high police authority.

Pickford Flees Paris

To the astonishment of everyone, Jack Pickford flew to London this morning by a special airplane. He left no address. With his departure all members of the party which proved fatal to the beautiful Olive faded from the scene.

Pickford's sudden departure while his wife's body remains in Paris has aroused comment, especially in view of the fact the autopsy is to be held tomorrow.

Abandon Suicide Theory

"The death is certainly mysterious," said the official. "The theory of suicide has been definitely abandoned. French justice requires the fullest investigation in order to satisfy public opinion."

"The body will be embalmed immediately after the autopsy. If the verdict is favorable, as we hope, a permit for its shipment to America will be given immediately."

In the event a burial permit is immediately forthcoming shipment of Mrs. Pickford's body to America probably will be made September 15. Owing to the departure of her husband, and the absence from Paris of any kind of the dead actress, it is not likely that a service will be held here.

Like the prisoner in Holland, the czar took his exercise sawing wood and talking about the yard. Upper right—Yakov Yurovsky, a civilian shopkeeper, who was commandant of the czar's prison prior

Grunau Denies Report Rail Strike Is Off

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—John Grunau, president of the Chicago yardmen's association, one of the unions which called the switchmen's strike April 1, today denied widely circulated reports that the strike had been called off.

Strikers in other centers refused to even take a vote on ending the strike. Mr. Grunau said, while the men in the Chicago district voted 21,974 to 21,304 to remain out.

Mr. Grunau's figures are disputed by T. J. Meisner, head of the yardmen's head of the Chicago district, who is here. Mr. Meisner claims the Chicago strikers gave a majority of 1,954 in favor of remaining on strike, but declined to say on what information he based his figures.

ALLIED PREMIERS RESUME CONFERENCE AT AIX LES BAINS

Giolitti and Millerand to Make Public Statement After Session Today

AIX LES BAINS, France, Sept. 13.—Premier Millerand of France and Premier Giolitti of Italy resumed today their conference over international questions, begun yesterday. When the premiers met today Count Benito-Lugaresi, the Italian ambassador to France and Canelle Barrere, the French ambassador to Italy were present.

Premiers Millerand and Giolitti at the conclusion of the morning session sent the following telegram to Premier Lloyd George.

"M. Giolitti and M. Millerand, meeting together at Aix Les Bains, do not wish to separate without addressing in common to his excellency, Premier Lloyd George, their very cordial and friendly greetings."

"The Italian and French prime ministers have once again had occasion to recognize the full accord of their general views and the primordial necessity of the close entente of Great Britain, Italy and France in order to insure a settlement of European problems and the re-establishment of peace and normal relations between the peoples."

Premiers Giolitti and Millerand planned to meet again this afternoon and afterwards make public a common declaration.

BRAMBE LEAVES THE VILLAGE WITHOUT HIS HAT OR COAT

Russian Pole Sought by the Police Here and Elsewhere

Striking down the jailer, Peter Brambe, a Russian Pole held in the Trempealeau county jail at Whitehall, made a sensational escape from the institution Sunday afternoon, according to word received by Chief of Police J. B. Webber today.

Brambe, who was being held on a charge of robbing a store at Blair, assaulted the jailer when the latter passed near him in the corridor, knocked him unconscious and, procuring the keys, made his escape from the jail.

Brambe evidently got out of Whitehall without being seen or recognized and is believed to be in hiding in the rural districts in that locality.

The police here were asked to be on the watch for Brambe. He is described as 25 year old, of light complexion, smooth shaven, wearing dark trousers with light stripes, a light colored shirt, tennis shoes and no hat or coat when he left. He talks broken English.

TEAMSTERS OFFER TO DEBATE ISSUES OF THEIR STRIKE

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—A unique suggestion for settlement of a labor controversy was offered today when the strike committee of the Van Teamsters' union, Local No. 273, challenged the Van Owners' association to debate the issues of the teamsters' strike in Madison Square Garden. The teamsters suggested that two-thirds of the garden be allotted equally to friends of the contending parties and the remaining third be open to the public.

CUT SUGAR PRICES

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Arbuckle Sugar Refining company today reduced their list price of fine granulated sugar from 17.10 to 15 cents a pound. All refiners in the market are quoting this price, but most of the demand still is being supplied by second-hand dealers at 14 to 14 1/4 cents.

MAGSWINEY FAMILY ADDRESS APPEAL TO DIPLOMATS IN PARIS

Express Hope that Nations Will "Prevent the Tragedy Now Impending"

HUNGER-STRIKING MAYOR IN STATE OF COLLAPSE

Enters Upon Thirty-second Day of His Fast

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, was in a state of collapse and exhaustion this morning at Brixton prison, where he is continuing his hunger strike. This is the thirty-second day of his fast. MacSwiney passed a bad and restless night, according to a bulletin issued by the Irish Self-Determination league.

Mrs. MacSwiney, wife of the lord mayor, together with his sisters Mary and Annie, and his brother, Sean, have addressed an appeal to the American ambassador and the heads of the other embassies and legations in London for submission to their governments. It calls attention to the case of the lord mayor and that of the eleven hunger strikers at Cork, and expresses the hope that the united councils of the nations addressed will "prevent the tragedy now pending and thereby calm the peoples of the world."

Calls it Murder

The letter says: "Lord Mayor MacSwiney was murdered for the same reason for which Lord Mayor MacSwiney is being murdered now—because he was fighting for self-determination for his country. If the present tragedy is allowed to proceed we are confronted with the unparalleled crime of two lord mayors of the same city being murdered within six months of each other by a supposedly civilized government."

"We are of the opinion that this is of grave concern for all governments. Owing to the very close relations existing between the modern nations, a government outrage in one country reacts in another. It is clear to us that if the crimes now perpetrated in Ireland, in the name of the English government, are tolerated the foundations of the governments of all nations will be imperiled."

At mid-afternoon Mayor MacSwiney's condition had not altered materially. The league's bulletin, stated that he continued very prostrate and exhausted.

Deny Feeding Strikers

LONDON, Sept. 13.—Rumors that Irish hunger strikers in jail at Cork are being fed surreptitiously are denied in a Dublin dispatch to the Daily Mail, which declares their only nourishment is from oil with which they are imbued to alleviate the pain they suffering due to wasting tissues. The deaths of the more delicate strikers may be expected at any time, the dispatch says.

Prisoners Growing Weak

CORK, Sept. 13.—By The Associated Press.—The eleven hunger strikers in the Cork jail were still alive today, but all of them were materially weaker. Two of the striking prisoners, Burke and Kenny, collapsed twice during the night, and their condition is causing anxiety.

Sean Hennessy, the 19-year-old youth whose condition has been grave, remains in a comatose state, and in his semi-conscious moments he is refusing to take the customary quantity of water.

It was learned today that both the government physicians, Dr. Pearson and Dr. Battiscombe, had received death threats.

AIR MANEUVERS CARRIED OUT BY U. S. ARMY PLANES

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Army air service officials received a report today on the first fleet maneuvers of army dirigible airplanes held Saturday at Langley field. Three semi-rigid craft participated and under command of Captain Byron B. Daggett, major commander, battle evolutions including an attack formation were carried out in the air above Hampton Roads and the naval base.

The French built airship Zodiac, officially known as the ZD-1, was the flagship, commanded by Captain Dale Mabrey. She is a 300-foot vessel and carried three officers and ten men during the maneuvers which lasted two hours and fifteen minutes. The other craft were the CD-2, a navy type "hump" commanded by Lieut. Bruce Martin and carrying two officers and eight men, and the A-4, a training ship. Lieut. Winford Clare commanded.

A four hundred foot Italian ship is soon to be added to the army airship fleet. Arrangements for its purchase have been completed.

CATTLE RECEIPTS HEAVY KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 13

Cattle receipts here today are the largest of the year, according to the United States Bureau of Markets which reports 40,000 cattle including 6,000 calves, at the Kansas City Stock Yards. Most of these are grass steers. The largest previous receipts this year was 24,900 exclusive of about four thousand calves.

GIRL DISCOVERED AFTER LIVING 17 YEARS IN CELLAR

JOLIET, Ill., Sept. 13.—Efforts to place Marie Zomback, 19-year-old crippled girl, hidden in a cellar seventeen years, in a hospital were unavailing today, as Joliet health and school authorities took steps to restore the stunted mind and withered body of the child through operations and scientific treatment.

Dr. Bernard Klein, expert diagnostician, and a corps of public health nurses today said they would undertake the task of restoring the subnormal child to health.

Because she contracted a disease of the spine when she was two years old, the girl, whose body was developed to the extent of a five-year-old child and whose mind has the response of a two-year-old, was placed in the cellar of her home where she has lived seventeen years. The girl, according to Dr. Klein, bears every indication of the absence of the essential thyroid gland.

PACKERS' PROFITS CENT AND HALF ON DOLLAR SAYS CHIEF

Many Concerns Made Less than that Declares Chicago Packerman at Annual Meet

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 13.—Addressing the opening session of the convention of the American meat packers here today, Thomas E. Wilson of Chicago, president of the association, said that none of the "Big Five" packers received as much as a cent and a half of profit on each dollar of sales made in 1919.

Mr. Wilson made public the profits and sales of 51 American corporations. "These 51 corporations with an invested capital and surplus of about five and two-thirds billions of dollars handled about nine and a quarter billions of dollars worth of business during 1919, which netted nearly six hundred millions of dollars in profits," said Mr. Wilson.

The combined business of the five packers was about three and one-half billion dollars, with an aggregate net profit of a little more than thirty-four million dollars. The combined business of the other 76 corporations was about six billions or double that of the five packers on which they received aggregate net profits of five hundred and fifty-five million dollars as compared with $34,329,471 for the five packers. None of the packers received as much as a cent and a half of profit on each dollar of sales that year. One packer earned only an eighth of a cent per dollar of sales, while the average of the five was less than a cent (0.83).

In speaking of the relations between meat packing companies and their employees, Mr. Wilson said: "The problem of the reduction in the cost of living rests largely with those who produce. Our labor is receiving the highest wage in the history of industry and it is up to the workers to produce enough to increase the purchasing power of the money which has been added to their pay envelopes."

Mr. Wilson stated that the restriction of credit and general financial stringency have forced many producers to market their livestock prematurely, with resulting losses in money and in production.

EXCHANGE WEAK DESPITE ARRIVAL OF FRENCH GOLD

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Arrival here today of $4,000,000 more in French gold, making about $20,000,000 to be applied to France's half share of the $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan maturing October 15, was without stabilizing effect upon the foreign exchange market, which showed further weakness this morning.

Demand bills on London fell to $3.48 1/4 to the pound and Paris demand rate to $6.59, both low records for the current movement.

MARION RAILROAD CLUB CALLS UPON G. O. P. CANDIDATE

MARION, Ohio, Sept. 13.—A delegation of railway employees living in Marion and nearby cities marched to Senator Harding's front porch today in a demonstration of their allegiance to his candidacy and of their disagreement with the labor leaders opposing him because of his support of the Commins-Tsch act.

The delegation represented the Marion Harding and Coolidge Railway club.

LABOR FEDERATION ASKS CONVENING OF ITALIAN PARLIAMENT

Demands Laws Permitting Labor to Take Over Industrial Plant Management

COMPROMISE RESOLUTIONS PASSED AT STORMY SESSION

Socialists Demand Party Take Control of Situation

MILAN, Sept. 13.—Immediate convocation of the Italian parliament for the purpose of passing laws under which workmen may take over management of industrial plants has been demanded by the confederation of labor in session here.

Resolutions favoring a compromise of the situation resulting from occupation of plants by workmen through out Italy were adopted at a stormy session of the confederation yesterday. Socialist leaders bitterly attacked the confederation party assumption of control of the situation which, they claimed, had taken a purely political aspect. When the socialist demands were rejected, an additional resolution was passed by the confederation which asked the president of the chamber of deputies and Premier Giolitti to call parliament into session.

"We demand," this resolution read, "immediate convocation of the chamber of deputies in order that the situation may be examined and laws proposed which will bring about radical legislative measures which, through requisition of industrial plants and participation in their management by workmen, will prepare the way for direct control of workers in the interests of collectivity."

Urge Co-operation

ROME, Sept. 13.—Complete co-operation between employers and workmen, which is declared to be the principal factor in maintaining production throughout Italy, is urged by Deputes Pandera and Salvadori, members of the Catholic party, which has its own metal workers' union. They urge that the government should grant tariff protection to industries so that they may make larger profits and pay higher wages.

The only solution suggested by their party is that workmen should gradually become shareholders in industries together with the present owners, they said.

Two are Killed

TURIN, Italy, Sept. 13.—Unknown persons fired several rifle shots today into the villa of Signora Dibenedetto, engineer of one of the metal works here. The engineer replied with his revolver and killed two persons. The police arrested Dibenedetto. The workmen evagated the plant.

Anxiety felt by the authorities lest the workmen engaged in the industrial plant controversy here might attempt to take possession of the dynamite works at Avignone, near here, led to protective measures today. The garrison was strengthened.

SPANISH WAR VETS DECLARE WAR UPON RADICALISM IN U. S.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 13.—Evadication of radicalism was advocated here today at the opening of the twenty-second national encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans of America.

William Jones of New York, commander-in-chief of the organization, declared the government should spare no expense in "wiping out" the doctrines that are designed to disturb the very things upon which this government was founded.

Reports submitted recommended that the pay of army and naval officers and enlisted men be increased, and that army officers be selected from the ranks.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT HAS TWO MILLION IT CAN'T ACCOUNT FOR

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 13.—Internal revenue department officials today began an investigation to account for the presence of $2,225,000 in the Federal Building vaults, with nothing on the books to show the source from which it came.

The presence of the surplus money was discovered when officials of a corporation, called to explain why they had failed to pay $225,000 taxes produced receipts showing they had paid. The money was found in the vault, but the government's receipt had been lost and no record made on the books. Most of the $2,225,000 remaining unaccounted for is believed to have been collected as income taxes.

CARSON'S BIRTHPLACE BURNED BY SIN FEINERS

BELFAST, Sept. 13.—Cattle Lam-bert house in Atherny, County Galway, where Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster unionist leader, was born, was burned today, presumably by Sinn Feiners.

Galway has been placed under the curfew law, as are Belfast, Dublin, Londonderry, Cork and Limerick, and a number of smaller towns and villages.

THOUSAND SOLDIER STUDENTS APPLY FOR READMISSION TO "U"

More Service Men Expected to Take Advantage of Educational Bonus this Year

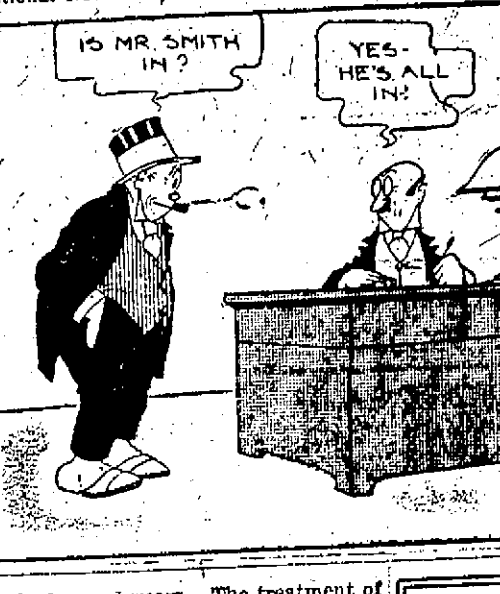

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 12.—More than a thousand students who were in the university last year have applied for the educational bonus for next year, said Mayor Edward A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state board of education. "One hundred new students not receiving the educational bonus at the University last year have applied up to date. Applications are coming in every day on this basis, not only for the university, but for all the educational institutions which had students last year. The correspondence, however, indicates that there are some ex-service men who are not yet fully advised as to the educational bonus law and I hope that they will get immediately in touch with the state board of education or with the local educational bonus committee which is organized in eighty of the cities of the state."

More than six thousand students were assigned under the educational bonus law last year, and at least that number will be reached this year. The state board of education published recently a list of two hundred correspondence courses which are open to ex-service men without any cost for instruction. Service men are beginning rapidly to take advantage of this law. Courses are offered in business organization, bookkeeping, cost accounting, auditing, insurance, business law, mechanical drawing, civil, structural and mechanical engineering, pharmacy, surveying, roads and pavements, and all the regular subjects offered by the university. Many of these courses may be counted in partial fulfillment of a degree.

A similar list of comprehensive courses are open to ex-service men who organize in their own community a class which will be attended by at least fifteen ex-service men. Last year the West Bend club of the American Legion organized a class under its auspices and was very successful. A wide range of subjects are offered in these classes: Automobile mechanics, business administration, advertising, government, American history, architectural drawing, cabinet making, sheet metal work, and other similar subjects.

Mr. J. B. Borden, assistant secretary of the state board of education, sent out on urgent request that service men should make immediate application to the state board of education, Madison, Wis., for any one of the educational opportunities offered under the educational bonus law.

BRINGING UP FATHER

SCHEME ON FOOT TO KEEP PRICES OF POTATOES UP

Farmers Sell Crops Under Instruction Not to Dig Them Says Letter to Bureau

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 12.—The division of markets has received a letter of which the following is a copy, which suggests a sinister scheme for keeping up the price of potatoes:

"Don't know as your department is concerned but report comes from the potato district of the state, that men are buying fields and instructing the farmer not to dig them at all. The party said he saw a man near Tomahawk sell eight acres for $1,500 and he was forbidden to dig them. This should be stopped in some way."

This division certainly is concerned in matters of this kind, but before it can do anything, more definite information must be furnished. Many such reports are often heard or read, but they are always accompanied by the statement that a "party" said he heard of potatoes being destroyed, or "a report comes," etc. This division has heard of some of these supposed cases of food being wasted or destroyed, and has traced them down and in all cases there was nothing of the kind. These stories of potatoes of food being destroyed to keep up prices are nothing but bunk and are circulated around periodically by propagandists of one type or another.

The Question

Would it be possible for a woman to carry typhoid fever germs in her system eight years after recovering from typhoid, and communicate typhoid fever to people who buy milk from her after eight years?

The Health department inquired where these patients were getting their milk, and immediately investigated my neighbor, who is scrupulously clean, has been selling milk for over a year. The milk is rich and seems all right. Recently two of her patrons had typhoid fever, in fact, have it now.

The woman accepts the health board's decree in good faith, because she says she does not want to endanger her own family, but I do not believe this is the source of contagion, and would like to know for my own information. It seems far-fetched to me.

The Answer:
In reply to your inquiry, you are advised that it is not only possible, but quite common for patients who have recovered from typhoid fever to continue the carrying of the germs of typhoid fever in their system.

I have personally known of an instance in which a dairy farmer continued to harbor typhoid bacteria in his system four years after having recovered from typhoid. During that time, he had unwittingly been the cause of repeated typhoid infections in the village where he sold milk.

My attention was directed to him through an outbreak of typhoid fever in New York city, embracing several hundred cases of typhoid fever among users of a particular supply of raw milk.

The condition is now well understood, and those who harbor typhoid bacilli long after convalescing from the disease, are spoken of as "typhoid bacillus carriers." There is an extensive literature on this subject, and you may be able to find some reference to this subject in your local library.

The Question

My father has been troubled for several years with ulcers on the leg. They heal for a short time, and then break open. Sometimes they do not swell for a month. Can you tell me what to do?

The Answer

It is not possible to say definitely what is the trouble with your father's legs. Your description is very descriptive of various ulcers, a condition which is very common in persons of advanced years. The treatment of various ulcers, while not particularly difficult, is sometimes a very tedious affair. Rest in bed, in which the horizontal position of the legs helps the circulation, is often of great value. It is suggested that you discuss the matter frankly with your family physician, and, if necessary, have him refer you to some specialist for consultation.

The Question

What can be done for near-sightedness? Can you give me the name of some medicine to make the pupils smaller?

The Answer

The only remedy for near-sightedness consists in the wearing of glasses. While there are remedies which decrease the size of the pupil of the eye, they should be used only when prescribed by a physician. It is very dangerous to tamper with medicines which change the size of the pupil. By all means ask your physician to give you the name of a reputable eye specialist whom you may consult.

To Keep Hair Curly, Wavy and Beautiful

Here is how your hair can be curled nicely, easily and harmlessly. Before doing it up, apply a little liquid sliner. This will clean your hair, and in a few hours you will have just the prettiest curls and waves—and they will look and feel so natural you'll never think of doing without sliner thereafter. You won't be troubled any more with hair stringing around your face, with burnt, uneven ends, nor with that dull, dead appearance. The hair will remain in curl forever so long.

Any druggist can of course supply you with liquid sliner, and a few ounces will last you a long time. It is neither sticky nor greasy, and is really a delightful thing to use. It is doubly useful because of also serving as a beneficial dressing for the hair.

PRINTERS MEET TO DISCUSS PAPER AND PAPER PROBLEMS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 12.—Labor conditions and the white paper shortage are to be the principal topics of discussion at the thirty-fourth annual convention of the United Typothetae of America, an organization of master printers, which opened here today.

A resolution prepared for presentation, proposed that the constitution be amended to take the organization as a body out of all labor matters so far as concerns any tendency to obligate the entire body by contracts made by any one group.

Delegates asserted the convention probably would take action on the closed shop and the forty-four hour week questions.

Discussing the paper shortage, delegates pointed out that the price of paper stock has increased more than 400 per cent in the last few years and emphasized that relief must be secured.

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children unless you or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Of Course You Love Your Baby.

You love it because of its very helplessness, because it can't tell you what is the matter when it feels bad. It can only cry and look to you for help. But the more you love baby, the more you want to help baby, the more you ought to realize what a wonderful remedy Fletcher's Castoria is. It has been used for babies' ailments for over thirty years.

An experienced doctor discovered Fletcher's Castoria especially for babies' use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops, and Soothing Syrups. Doctors who know what is safe and best for babies have only good to say of it.

Don't neglect your baby. Get a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria and give baby a few doses of it. See how the little one smiles at you as if trying to thank you for helping it. Soon you will learn to depend on Fletcher's Castoria, made just for Infants and Children, and of course you would not think of using anything for them that was not prepared especially for Infants and Children. So keep it in the house.

Butter and Eggs via Motor Express

IN addition to over a million farmer-owned automobiles, 18,000 farmer-owned trucks, and approximately 100,000 farm tractors, there are 519 motorized Express Companies doing business in the states served by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and this number is growing day by day.

Automotive Industries for 1920 declares "Trucks are operating on railroad schedules, and have proved more dependable, on a time basis, than the steam roads have ever been. Their use to replace the freight car for certain classes of freight has proved a marked success."

The Smithsonian Institute, United States National Museum Bulletin 102, says, "In respect to prompt delivery of farm produce, whether to railways or directly to towns, the motor truck has an exceptionally useful opportunity."

It is these motor trucks, tractors and farmer-owned automobiles that are largely increasing gasoline consumption, particularly in the Middle West.

During the first four months of 1920, the production of gasoline increased 13 1/2%, while during the same period, domestic consumption of gasoline increased 33 1/3%. This excess of consumption over production has been a potent factor in the advance of gasoline prices, but the dominant underlying reason has been the increase in the cost of crude oil.

The service rendered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) lies in manufacturing and distributing to the tractor, the truck, and the automobile a dependable supply of gasoline and lubricating oils, and selling them at a fair price. The latest refinery methods are producing a continually increasing percentage of gasoline from each barrel of crude oil. While large-scale production and distribution assure maximum economy in this industry, the savings effected by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) are utilized to hold down gasoline prices despite the rising tide of demand for petroleum products.

I WILL PRAISE HIM
The Lord is my strength and my shield; my heart trusteth in him, and I am helped; therefore my heart rejoiceth, and with my song will I praise him.
Psalm 124:8.

CERTAIN LIMITS

We get considerably "hot up" over our politics. Differing in preferences and ideas, we come to take very seriously the victory or defeat of candidates whom we favor. We are apt to imagine grave disasters when we lose.

But after all there is very little to it. Government can do only a few things. The variation between what a conservative and a radical administration can accomplish is small. Those on either side of the debate who fear that this radical or that conservative group is about to divest anybody of fundamental human rights are unnecessarily worried. Back of the men in power stands the constitution.

The country lives on production, on work and what it brings. Government can not create these things for the individual. Seldom can it create the opportunity to secure them. Often it can equalize opportunity, and to a great extent that is its function. The rest is largely such elements of good business as economy, judgment and general executive ability.

Legislation has certain leeway, defined by the constitution. No legislature can pass this barrier by its enactments, but the majority can enlarge or narrow the freedom of legislation by constitutional amendment. And if we believe in democracy we must admit that so long as the majority rules that from time to time it falls into errors is comparatively unimportant. Self-government may not be perfect government, but it is the only government which comports with freedom.

Really, we have no great need to worry. We'll have our bread, and generally it will be buttered on the same side no matter who is elected to office.

ON FRONT PORCHES

REGARDLESS of whether Senator Harding, the presidential candidate, stays on or leaves his front porch, many other front-porch campaigns are drawing to a close with the approach of autumn.

From the front porch these campaigns will draw to the parlor, so that pa soon will be heard complaining of the costliness of the campaign, for it is he who pays the bills for the electric and gas lights that are burned till midnight and even later.

Doubtless, the 1920 front-porch campaigns have been successful, considering that it has been a beautiful summer with glorious moonlights, especially made for sitting in a porch swing and holding hands.

But the complete results of the victory will not be known until the wedding bells ring out later in the year. Indeed, some of the slower campaigners may not have progressed as far as others in their front-porch campaign, so that the returns may not all be in until June, 1921, after the intensive winter parlor campaign.

Shakespeare knew what he was about when he staged his prettiest love scene on a porch, or balcony.

TEACHERS OF CHILDREN

SCHOOL is beginning once more. The children are soon to be in evidence. And so are school boards and superintendents who will keep themselves sufficiently before the public.

But how about the teachers?

They are in the background, supervised and superintended for the good of the schools and the credit of their superiors. They are told exactly what to teach and how to teach it and at what precise moment they must turn from one subject to another. They are told how to manage their windows. They are liable at every moment to have some authorized person or some visitor come in to see what they are doing. They must keep their peace with parents and support all the conventional moralities and be examples. They must fill out innumerable reports, many of which appear to them useless. They are underpaid, yet they must dress appropriately, and count their scanty pennies to do it. The burden of detail that they must carry is enormous. And yet, somehow or other, they do not forget that after all they are not mere parts of a machine or mere teachers of subjects, but teachers of children, and they manage to see Tom, Dick and Mary as real human beings, with real lives to live and real problems to solve, and often they help them in vital personal affairs as fathers and mothers cannot and do not.

It is the teachers that count. Let not the teachers be forgotten.

IT PAYS TO CO-OPERATE

CALIFORNIA fruit growers co-operate. They get a third of the consumer's dollar.

Washington bean growers get a sixth; Colorado sugar beet raisers get a sixth, or less. Florida grapefruit growers don't do as well. Nor do Texas truck farmers; nor Michigan fruit producers. Reason? They don't co-operate.

In Denmark, where co-operation among producers has reached its highest level, farmers get ninety per cent of the money paid by consumers.

Denmark has eliminated the expensive middleman. America has more toll-taking hands between producer and consumer than any other country. Time to call a halt on that.

There is, of course, another side to this co-operative movement. It is co-operative buying.

Those twins, co-operative selling and buying, can go far to solve the living cost for consumers and the profit problem for producers. They can work wonders with H. C. L. by removing all unnecessary hands between them, and they, too, can reduce transportation costs by their co-operation.

Here we have the big, essential activity upon which farmer organizations like the Nonpartisan league should center their activities. It is farm business. When farmers get away from their own business, they are apt to fail. Wisconsin has two or three farmers' packing plants. They are either abandoned, or have passed into hands trained in the business. Farmers know farming, packers know packing. The greatest menace to the success of any man or any group is taking in too much territory.

OTHERS GOING DOWN

JOHN J. Mitchell, prominent Chicago banker, after a thorough investigation of business conditions, east and west, predicts:

1—There will be no dearth of money for essential and legitimate enterprises.

2—Commodities will all be considerably cheaper soon.

"The drop in prices of silk, leather, sugar and rice," he said, "simply came a bit earlier because of particular conditions. The rest will follow."

That portion of American history, which will be known as the golden era of the profiteer, is now to be spoken of in the past tense.

John D. Rockefeller enjoyed a motorboat ride on Saranac Lake. Enjoyed? Yes, but he wasn't buying the gas.

The pessimist says civilization is about to fall. The cynic says that doesn't include the price of coal.

FATE AT THE WHEEL

BY FREDERIC HART

When Arthur Stanley awoke to consciousness of things around him he realized two things: one was the pain that beat with maddening insistence at the back of his head, the other was the presence of a soft hand that rested lightly on his brow and a soothing voice that spoke words of pity in his ear. He opened his eyes painfully but found the glare of the sunlight too much for him and closed them again. Desperately he tried to reconstruct the incidents that led to his present state. There had been a long stretch of white road—he remembered that perfectly—that had challenged the young blood in his veins and the sixty-horse-power under his hands to their utmost. Yes, and he had responded to the challenge; he remembered seeing the number 65 crawl into sight in the little oblong opening of the speedometer; 65-70-73; could he make 75? And then....

He seemed to remember a slight turn in the road—such a turn as he was accustomed to look at with contempt. But there was a little sidleslip somewhere and he seemed to recollect that the world was all tilted sideways somehow—and then he didn't remember any more, strive as he might. He groaned at the futility of his effort.

"Does it hurt so much?" The soft voice was speaking. The voice surely had no part in his recollections. He opened his eyes again and this time forced them to stay open despite the pain it caused him. And he told himself, shaken as he was, that it was worth the trouble.

He was lying on a miraculously smooth greenward that was as soft as a mattress to his aching limbs, and under his head was a smooth white arm, while a slim hand kept up its soothing ministrations. And very near to his own face was a tender pair of eyes and a gently curving mouth that expressed all that ministering angels are supposed to be. This miraculous apparition was kneeling by him and comforting him. He tried to struggle into a sitting position and almost shrieked at the sudden stab of pain that the effort cost him. And then he was aware of another presence—a masculine presence on the other side, who spoke gruffly the while it delivered in a little black bag that clinked ominously. The stabbing pain repeated itself despite his efforts he moaned. The masculine presence was speaking again.

"We can't move him like this," it said. "Wait a minute."

Arthur Stanley saw a hand holding a handkerchief pushed under his nose, smelt a sickish-sweetish odor, took a couple of convulsive gasps and—knew no more.

When he awoke he was in a cool white bed in a cool white room, and the divinity of a few minutes—or was it hours?—before was bending over him.

"Where am I?" he queried weakly. "And how—how did I get here?"

"The doctor said you mustn't talk. If you'll be still I'll tell you how it happened."

He was in a mood to lie still, as he believed movement racked his body with strange and unaccustomed pains, and he listened motionless as she told him how she had been sitting on the porch reading when she had heard a fearful crash and saw his body come hurtling through the hedge that bounded her place from the road; how she had been alone at the time except for an old gardener who pottered around the place; how she had sent him on a run for the doctor, while she ministered such first aid as she could and finally how she had had him moved to a room in the house instead of to the hospital, when examination had disclosed no necessary operation—merely a setting of some broken bones and complete rest.

"But—but where am I? And who are you?" He seemed to be striving to bring a halting memory within the boundaries of his control.

"She laughed deliciously. "I knew you wouldn't remember me."

"I met last winter at the Dairyville ball at the Ritz—but I was a little flapper then, and I was awfully glad to get a chance to dance with you—oh, yes, I knew you then—by reputation—but you didn't know me. Don't you remember Constance Whitely?"

It came back to him in great lantern flashes—the glittering ball, the round of dances with girls he knew and cared nothing for, and the one dance that had stuck in his memory—a waltz with a dreamy-eyed little girl who danced as though she were the spirit of the music itself—a little girl, dressed only as a "soph-jeb," but who had made more impression on him than any of the other girls he had met that night. About her, only to find that her family had taken her off to Europe for the season; and then she had slipped his mind until—

"What happened to the car?" he asked. "I'm afraid there's nothing much left of it just now. You were very reckless—this last with a pretty air of proprietorship—to drive so fast. It's all smashed."

"I don't care a hang if there's nothing left but the tail light," he announced vigorously. "I was pretty lucky."

In his eagerness he tried to sit up, and sank back with a groan. The pain, smiling, came and changed in an instant to one of the gravest concern.

"You mustn't move at all," she declared. "And I've talked heads too much to you already. I'm going to leave you. Briggs will bring your dinner in an hour, and despite his weak protests she left him."

But there were other afternoons—afternoons when his gradually increasing strength permitted him to sit up and talk for hours together to her. He met her father—a gray-haired product of old school of gentlemen—and her mother, a prim, smiling old lady who made much of him as mothers will who have no sons, but most of all he enjoyed the long, quiet afternoons spent with her, listening to her rippling voice.

JEFFRIES LOSES HEAD—OAKDALE HIGH BEATEN—BAD SCRAP IS RESULT

(First Day of Story)

Because George Jeffries lost his temper, he lost his head, and because he lost his head, he lost the first important football game of the season.

Seven to six is about the most provoking of all football scores—to the defeated team. Jeffries lost the game, 7 to 6. It happened this way:

With the score a double zero, and the end of the third quarter approaching, Oakdale High had the ball well into the opponents' territory. It was the third down with three yards to go.

Jeffries called back Tom Talmadge, the speedy end, to carry the ball on an end run. Tom started, stumbled, and fell. An opposing tackle jumped on him and Oakdale High faced a fourth down with thirteen yards to gain.

"Can't you stand up?" bawled the enraged Jeffries. He called off signals for a forward pass and shot the ball out over Tom's end.

"If you're any good, get that!" he shouted hoarsely. But no player, lacking a fleet pair of wheels, could possibly have got it. In his anger Jeffries hurled the ball like a bullet 15 yards above and beyond Tom.

The opposing halfback seized it, made a wide circle, dodged a couple of times, and ran 85 yards for a touchdown. Goal was kicked and the score was 7 to 0 against Oakdale.

Jeffries became so violently abusive that Coach Murray took him out and sent in Art Billings, substitute quarterback. Art managed to steer the team across the line but they missed goal and so the game ended a 7 to 0 defeat.

Jeffries walked into the dressing room so furious he was pale. A few words with Tom and they were started. The fight was short. Jeffries was huskier. Before Coach Murray had time to get in, the rest of the team had a limp Tom Talmadge under the shower and were rubbing a badly bruised eye.

Coach Murray ordered both Jeffries and Talmadge to turn in their suits and they did.

But the end of this incident is the beginning of our story. In Oakdale High there was a secretly organized "Klimacks Klan." The Jeffries-Talmadge scrap started a chain of events that—well, we'll see.

(More Tomorrow)

As she talked to him or read aloud from some book or other.

It was a gala day when at last he was allowed to go outdoors. He was carefully carried down in a huge chair which was set on the lawn in the late afternoon sunlight. He drew in a deep lungful of the tingling air and exclaimed:

"Gad!" he exclaimed. "It's good to see the sky again!"

Constance was with him, tucking the rug about him, giving him a little heap of letters and telegrams—messages from his friends congratulating him on his recovery. He read them eagerly, hungrily. It was good to have so many people inquiring about him.

Suddenly it came over him what a great sacrifice the girl who was sitting beside him had made for him. In a wave of tenderness and gratitude he caught her hand.

"My dear Constance, how can I ever

Remarks on Rooting

"When I was in college a few years ago," remarked an alumnus who had come back to a big football game, "nobody ever got out in front of the crowd and went through those crazy antics. It looks foolish to me."

Maybe it did look foolish, and maybe it isn't so foolish after all. There has been a change in the way that rooting is handled at college games.

It is seldom that rooting is so well done in high schools, not because high school students cannot yell loud enough, nor because they are not enthusiastic supporters of their teams, but rather because nobody gets on the job and works it up right.

It is not hard to organize rooting. A good cheer leader is the first essential. If he really is a good one, he will figure things out in advance so that all rooting which the students do or want to do, really becomes effective.

Get a good assortment of yells and songs. Get all rooters together. Don't let them run up and down the side lines. See that everybody watches the cheer leader, and then go at it with a vim.

BOYHOOD STORIES OF FAMOUS MEN

Oliver Wendell Holmes

In the village of Cambridge in the early part of the nineteenth century there was but one school building, and it was on the main street.

About two blocks from the school there was a glove-maker's shop, and suspended above the door was a huge wooden hand, which swung back and forth when the wind blew.

There was one little boy who was afraid of this hand and the terrible noise it made when it creaked and swung over his head on his way to school. His imagination made him fear that some day it would reach down and pick him up, so he couldn't go home to get his supper and go to bed.

Oliver Wendell Holmes—for that was the boy's name—grew to be a man with the same imagination. That is why he could write the wonderful poems which brought him world-wide fame.

BLOODHOUNDS TO TRAIL BURGLARS AT TREMPPEALEAU

Numerous Complaints of Robberies Prompt Authorities to Send Here for Dogs

Bloodhounds will be used to track burglars who have been "pulling" numerous "jobs" at Trempealeau, Wis. The authorities in the village believe home talent is responsible for the work and it is possible the bloodhounds that are to be sent up from La Crosse will trail up somebody's doorsteps at Trempealeau.

Saturday morning another burglary was discovered when the village hardware store was opened. The bars had been ripped off a rear window, the glass shattered and entrance effected. A number of pocket knives, flashlights, batteries and other articles of hardware were taken.

A month ago $500 worth of merchandise including various articles of clothing were taken from the general mercantile store. Entrance had been effected through a rear door.

Numerous small "jobs" have been reported over a period of several weeks. Homes had been broken into and such articles as canned fruit, groceries and provisions had been taken from pantries and ice boxes.

It is believed the boys of the village may be responsible for the thieving which has become bolder as the weeks passed.

Bijou—Margarita Fisher in "Dangerous Talent"
Casino—Shirley Mason in "The Little Wanderer"
Strand—Charles Ray in "The Clodhopper"
Hiale—Corinne Griffith in "The Tower of Jewels"

LA CROSSE
"Everywoman" now showing at the La Crosse theatre, is one of the most pretentious pictures ever put on the screen. Violet Heming has the chief role supported by an exceptional cast including Theodore Roberts, Wanda Hawley and Bebe Daniels, with many other lesser lights.

One of the most lavish settings in the picture is the banquet hall of wealth. It is built in the shape of a dollar mark. One circle of the "S" contains a swimming pool while the other is occupied by a dance floor. On these two stages beautiful girls in the most remarkable costumes ultra-modern mode disport. For the big theatre scenes in which Everywoman makes her debut, a chorus of extremely pretty girls was employed. The stage was literally covered with flowers, which gives an idea of the extravagant scale upon which the spectacle was filmed.

The story of "Everywoman" is known to nearly everyone, having been played all over the country by various theatrical organizations. Those who have seen the stage production will be able to appreciate the picture, as there is so much more to it in the picture. A Burton Holmes Travelogue will complete the bill.

RIALTO
Corinne Griffith in "The Tower of Jewels" entertained two packed houses at the Majestic last evening and everyone who saw this bright little star came away satisfied. Today she plays at the Rialto, with episode No. 7 of the "Vanishing Dagger" to complete the bill.

MAJESTIC
"Alias Jimmy Valentine," starring Bert Lytell opens at the Majestic. When Mr. Lytell made his first picture a few years ago, "The Lone Wolf," it was pronounced perfect. He played the part of the "Lone Wolf," a bandit who worked alone. This picture marked the beginning of his career as a star, and up until he made "Alias Jimmy Valentine," it was the best picture he had made. Now he comes to the front with another crook picture. In this one he simply outshines himself. Cast as a high class crook, Mr. Lytell has done his best work. In "Alias Jimmy Valentine" he has a chance to use his versatility and as the polished Jimmy Valentine he is at his best. "Three Men in a Boat," Ray Photographed and Fox News completes the bill.

STRAND
Charles Ray in "The Clodhopper" moves over to the Strand today. This is one of the best pictures that Mr. Ray has ever made and was thoroughly enjoyed by all who have seen it. A Christie comedy, "Two A. M.," completes the bill.

BIJOU
She graduated from a stenographer to an old, grumpy man to private secretary to a rich, and handsome bachelor. She found her life all tangled up with those of a baby, a butler, and a woman who suited her name, above and vocation to the occasion. This is the theme of "Dangerous Talent," starring Margarita Fisher that opened at the Bijou today.

It is a story strong with romance, mystery, humor and those engaging little everyday touches that make pictures "human." Miss Fisher is supported by an excellent cast including Harry Hilliard, Harvey Clark and George Periolat. Episode No. 18 of "The Lion Man" completes the bill.

CASINO
Little Shirley Mason appearing in "The Little Wanderer," made a lot of new friends yesterday at the Casino. The audiences all day seemed

Complaints of Poor and Inade-

by Rail Commission

MADISON, Wis., Sept. 13.—By an order issued by the railroad commission this week, the Tomah Electric and Telephone company was directed to restore its Warren exchange which it abolished in 1919. Repeated complaints of poor and inadequate service led the commission to make a very thorough investigation of conditions and to hold a public hearing in the matter. The commission found that the company was attempting to remedy conditions by reconstruction and repair of lines, but as the work might take a long time the commission felt that in justice to the complaining subscribers the Warren exchange should be restored. The order must be obeyed within thirty days.

The C. M. & St. P. Railway company is not to be compelled to be a party to the union railway station project now being agitated for Oshkosh, but must build a new station for itself to be completed by September 1, 1921. This is the substance of an order issued by the railroad commission this week.

The railroad commission by an order issued this week authorized the Menomonie Gas company to increase its rates 50 cents per thousand cubic

State for Indication of Political Sentiment

PORTLAND, Maine, Sept. 13.—Maine men and women went to the polls today for the election of state and county officers, members of the legislature and congressmen after having been told that the eyes of the nation were upon them to give the

The indications pointed to a heavy vote. Both parties expressed confidence in the result. The issues have been national with chief emphasis placed on the league of nations.

For governor, Frederick H. Parkhurst of Bangor, republican, is opposed by Bertrand G. McIntire, democrat.

DEATH OF BRIDE ENDS HONEYMOON OF CHICAGO PAIR

Authorities asked to Investigate
Drowning of Woman in Lake Michigan

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 13.—Const. guard officials announced today that the United States district attorney at Milwaukee would be asked to investigate the death of Mrs. Anna Jones, whose husband, John Archibald Jones, was found clinging to an overturned boat several miles off Racine, Wis., yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones left Chicago last month on a honeymoon trip in an eighteen foot power dory. Jones is a portrait painter and president of the Hill Pickle club, whose club-house in the Hill Pickle alley, is a gathering place for Chicago Bohemians. Mrs. Jones was Miss Anna Mitchell, a New York artist. They eloped following Jones' divorce from Elizabeth Gurley Flynn, the I. W. W. "Joan of Arc."

Const. guard officials say it would have been impossible for Jones to have righted the overturned boat, three times as he told them he did. As Mrs. Jones presumably lost her life outside the jurisdiction of shore authorities they have referred the investigation to the federal attorney.

FRENCH CHAMPION RETURNS TO U. S. FOR LEVINSKY GO

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Delegations from 25 French societies greeted Georges Carpentier, European heavyweight boxing champion, arriving here today on the steamship La Torrance. Carpentier was accompanied by Marcel Deschamps, his manager, who has planned to start preparations for the bout with Battling Slicy at Ebbets field, Brooklyn, on Columbus day, October 12.

Another installment of $4,000,000 in gold from France arrived on La Torrance making a total of approximately $20,000,000 in gold shipped to the U. S. by France to be applied to her half share of the $500,000,000 Anglo-French loan maturing October 15. It is understood the French government will send to this country a total of not less than $50,000,000 in gold.

VALUABLE SUPPLIES STOLEN IN TRANSIT TO RELIEF WORKERS

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 12.—By the Associated Press.—Supplies valued at hundreds of thousands of dollars have been stolen from the American organization for relief in the Near East recently, according to evidence placed before Charles Allen, American consul here. These losses have been partly due to work of dishonest employees in Asia minor and Arabia, but there are also indications that while the goods were in transit from the United States they were subjected to theft.

Cases of condensed milk taken over from army contract supplies in the United States have been found to contain three-quarters of the number of cans called for in the bill of lading. The spaces in the cases have been filled with American newspapers of recent date.

EXCURSION SEASON ON THE HILL ENDS ON UPPER RIVER

One of the best seasons the G. W. R.R. has had on the upper Mississippi is that which closes tomorrow, according to Captain Charles H. Smith. The season of the river has been ideal, the weather good and the patronage excellent. Many times the boat carried its capacity of 1,500 persons, he says.

Several hundred Winona Normal students and faculty members, together with several hundred from Winona this morning boarded the boat for a day's outing to La Crosse and return Saturday.

On Sunday a double-header to La Crosse and return and back to La Crosse was run.

Today the boat brought an excursion from Lansing to La Crosse, the last of the year.

SOLDIER A. W. O. L. KILLED IN WRECK PAL DISAPPEARS

JANESVILLE, Wis., Sept. 13.—Floyd Martin, of Wyanett, Ill., a soldier of the motor transport corps, Camp Grant, was crushed in an automobile wreck when the machine which he and a companion, Charles Franklin, were using left the road and went through a fence near Janesville Saturday night. Martin died early Sunday morning. The two soldiers had taken the machine from the camp without leave. Franklin said he would go to the camp and report the accident but had not shown up when the officials there were notified. The men were coming to Janesville to call on some girls. Search is being made for the missing soldier.

THERE'S NOTHING IN A NAME! ABSOLUTELY NOTHING!

THELMA PAYNE AILEEN ALLEN HELEN MEANY AILEEN RIGGINS

Selecting a team of mermaids to represent this country at Antwerp was a delicate matter. For if America has anything to brag of it's her girl swimmers.

The balmy Pacific coast, with its long beach season, and the Atlantic ocean sprays in the east with the Great Lakes sandwiched in between for training fields, our fair girl swimmers are countless.

But the selection of our water nymphs reveals the fact that our best swimmers have very effeminate names. For instance, there are three Helens, two Irelands, and two Aileens on the team. Besides these, other names run thusly: Frances, Thelma, Betty, Rhonda, Jeanne, Charlotte and Margaret. It sounds like they were the kind who would enjoy walking up and down the beaches without going near the ocean sprays. But what's in a name? Absolutely nothing in this case, for they're all record holders of some kind in the mermaid art.

Miss Moses is a Honolulu girl. She's a sprinter. Miss Payne learned to do fancy dives at Portland, Ore. Miss Allen is a Los Angeles girl. She's paying her own expenses over with the Olympic girls and she has excellent form in diving. Miss Meany is a New Yorker. She dives beautifully.

But the real little champion of the entire galaxy of water performers is the 11-year-old Aileen Riggins. Even her name is poetical. Her weight is but the tiny sum of 75 pounds. Yet Aileen is wonderful. They call her "the little girl with the perfect form in the water."

Her smile wins every one and after watching her gracefully leap from the springboard, it is to thrill, for she is Aileen—the wonder and the wonderful.

Society CALEDONIA M. E. AID SOCIETY LAYS PLANS FOR AN ACTIVE YEAR

AT A MEETING of the Ladies' Aid society of the Caledonia Street Methodist church on Friday afternoon at the social rooms of the church, successful reports of various committees were read and plans were laid for a year of large activity.

The experience session, was held and was an interesting feature of the meeting. In response to the roll call the annual report of the varied experiences of the members in earning their dollars, were given. Most of the members expressed their stories in rhyme, some of the dollars being earned with great difficulty. The society has a membership of eighty-five workers and it is expected that every member not in attendance will send in her dollar which will bring the sum up to a large amount, as several who do not belong to the society also contributed.

The ladies concluded to discontinue the practice of the quarterly supper held last year, but to meet each month as before serving light refreshments, and once a quarter have the birthday celebration, when those having had anniversaries during the period, will be the guests of honor. The annual apron sale will be held May first, and the annual bazaar and chicken pie supper November 18.

These ladies having given satisfaction serving meals at the White dining hall on the fair grounds, it was voted again to undertake the work. Mesdames John Owen, William Nesler and W. Corlett will be in charge.

Instead of working in upper and lower divisions as was the case heretofore, the membership has been divided into wheels with ten ladies in each. Each group intends to earn twenty-five dollars before November 18, the date of the bazaar. The chairman of the wheels are Mesdames J. Pieha, P. Roggensack, George Larson, Maude Johnson, Alfred Olson, Edgar Rott, John Johnson and J. J. McKenzie. Every spoke in the wheel, has her duties to perform, this lessening the duties of the chairman. Each wheel will meet this week for suggestions and discussions and to complete plans for regular meetings each week, following the fair until November 18.

Pleasure was expressed at the return of Rev. and Mrs. Benson for their sixth year's work. The officers of the society are:

ONE SPEECH TO A STATE IS HARDING PROGRAM SAYS HAYS

Denies Report that G. O. P. Candidate Will Make Coast-to-Coast Trip

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—There will be no "barn-storming" in connection with projected speaking trips of Senator Harding, Will H. Hays, national chairman, said here today in commenting on a report from Marion that the republican presidential candidate would travel from coast to coast.

"There has been absolutely no change in our plans as announced a month ago," Mr. Hays said. He expressed doubt that Senator Harding would go farther west than Omaha. He said he was not at liberty to announce what cities would be visited, adding that this information must come from Marion or Chicago.

As much as might be announced at present, Mr. Hays said was that early in October the candidate would visit Baltimore and one city in West Virginia, return to Marion for a few days, and then make a trip through the middle west.

Later, after another short stop at Marion, Mr. Hays said Senator Harding would come to New York and possibly go to New Jersey and Connecticut. Enroute either to or from New York city, he said, the candidate would deliver a speech at Buffalo.

"With the exception of New York, the rule will be 'one speech in a state,'" Mr. Hays declared.

WOMEN'S DUTY IS TO VOTE DECLARES CARDINAL GIBBONS

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 13.—Now that women have been given the vote they should exercise this privilege, "not only as a right but as a duty," Cardinal Gibbons said to newspapermen today.

"While I always have been opposed to woman suffrage, because I felt that suffrage would withdraw them from the more delicate and more sacred pursuits of home life," said the cardinal, "now that they have been given the vote, I urge upon all of them the exercise of that suffrage not only as a right but as a duty. They should exercise that duty intelligently."

"It is their duty, both to register and vote, and especially in the coming presidential election. They should vote for the candidate who will in their opinion contribute best to the material and social progress of the state."

A Natural Graft

A curious growing-together of individuals of two different species has interested botanists of South Sweden.

On being cut down, a large pine was shown to be 56 years old; about five feet from the ground it bore a fresh living branch of spruce, which was a natural graft that had existed at least 14 years without connection with the mother spruce. The microscope has shown an odd woody mixture at the junction of the two species. The coalescence surface is very irregular but the rather confused jumble of foreign cells has functioned harmoniously.

Extra Base Hits Count for Runs; Smith Makes Three Doubles in Game

COURTNEY ALLOWS FIVE HITS AND TRIMS CHICAGO 5 TO 0

Yanks Slaughter Tigers 13 to 6; Ruth Goes Hitless

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Cleveland retained first place by defeating Philadelphia on Sunday 5 to 2. Mull won his third American league game, keeping the Athletics' hits well scattered. While Perry was not hit in any one inning, Cleveland made its extra base hits count for runs, each of which scored Speaker. Score: Philadelphia . . . 011 000 000—2; Cleveland . . . 111 010 10X—5. Batteries: Perry and Perkins; Maults and O'Neill.

Senators, 5; Sox, 0. CHICAGO.—Courtney let Chicago down with five hits on Sunday, while Washington bunched its hits behind Williams' wildness and shut out the locals, 5 to 0. Manager Griffith, because of a decision by Umpire Dineen in the fourth inning, announced that he was playing the game under protest. With two men out and Ellerbe on first base, Courtney drove the ball into the left field bleachers. Ellerbe had rounded third and was on his way to the plate, but thinking the ball had been caught started back and Courtney rounded third and passed Ellerbe. Courtney was given credit for a double. Score: Washington . . . 000 013 001—5; Chicago . . . 000 000 000—0. Batteries: Courtney and Gharibty; Wilkinson, Williams and Schaak.

Yanks, 13; Tigers, 6. DETROIT.—New York won from Detroit by 13 to 6 on Sunday. Babe Ruth went hitless. Although at bat six times, he drew four passes. Lewis and Pipp hit home runs, both of them into the center field bleachers. Score: New York . . . 015 004 012—13; Detroit . . . 000 001 010—6. Batteries: Collins, Mays and Hannah; Boland, Ayers, Dauss and Stanage.

BARE DOESN'T KICK. NEW YORK.—Babe Ruth has set an excellent example for all other players this year. He seldom questions an umpire's judgment in calling strikes on him.

VACANT CHAIR. CHICAGO.—Garry Herrmann's successor as chairman of the National commission is still a dark horse. Things run on just the same.

NELSONS PROTEST UMPIRE'S DECISION IN NINTH INNING

Wall's Hit in Ninth Declared by Locals Fair by Three Feet

In backing their protest of the umpire's decision relative to Wall's hit in the ninth inning of the game with Black River Falls yesterday, the Nelsons management ordered the team off the field in the middle of the final frame with only one man down. A man on base, and one run to their credit. The score at the time was 5 to 3. Wall's run in the ninth was declared by the locals to be a fair hit, contending that the ball met the turf by easily three feet inside of the boundary. They declare that the umpire was not in a position on the field to make a fair decision of the play, pronouncing it a foul without the slightest consideration. The treatment accorded the local men by the members of the up-state club was excellent, but the officials apparently deemed it necessary to check the prosperity of the locals in the ninth inning in order to stave off defeat, according to reports gleaned from fans here who witnessed the game.

The Nelsons took seven hits from the up-staters, while Fitzke allowed but six. The local heaver scored nine strikeouts, with no walks. Smith, on strikeouts, for Black River Falls, struck out seven men and allowed one to walk. The teams were evenly matched, and the Falls management reported that the Nelsons are the stiffest proposition that they have run up against this season. The score:

LA CROSSE RIFLERS PRACTICING FOR SHOOT WITH TOMAH

Robarge Again Leads Field in Second Outdoor Practice Shoot Yesterday

The second practice held by the La Crosse Rifle club found Robarge again leading the field with Currie and Dubraks in second and third places, and while the men are confident of victory when they meet the Tomah club in a match the latter part of the month, it is realized that present shooting will have to be improved materially before this can be done. The Tomah club is an old one and made up of old army men and others who have had years of practice and are in a habit of walking off with the honors in competitive matches. In spite of this, however, the La Crosse men believe they can make the Tomah aggregation do some good shooting to take the honors. The La Crosse club is less than a year old.

The scores were as follows:

	300	500
Yards.	Yards.	Total
Robarge . . . . .	44	48
Currie . . . . .	43	39
Dubraks . . . . .	40	41
McLachlan . . . . .	41	40
Iverson . . . . .	38	41
Bendel . . . . .	38	39
Gillis . . . . .	43	10
Benner . . . . .	44
Nickas . . . . .	42
Kroll . . . . .	40
Thompson . . . . .	39
Spafford, Jesse . . . . .	31
Phillips, Geo. . . . .	23

The suggestion concerning ladies' and boys' tournaments has met with such instant approval that the question will be brought up for official action at a meeting of the club called for Wednesday evening, together with other important business.

BLOWING BUBBLES! ST. PAUL.—One of the strongest cogs in the champion Saints' machine is "Bubbles" Hargrave. He has hit for nearly 250 bases this season, 20 of them being over the wall.

WELTERWEIGHT CHAMPION TO GRAPPLE HERE WITH LOCAL MAN SEPTEMBER 20

With the arrival in the city on Saturday of Jack Reynolds, champion welterweight of the world, all will be ready for the long-heralded Reynolds-Webber grappling match at the Yeoman hall Monday night, September 20. Reynolds will meet Joe Risberg at Vinton, Iowa, Friday night, from where he will come here to finish his training for the bout on Monday. Webber, the local man, who has for the past few years been trying to get Reynolds on the mat, is a tickled grappler, for he declares that he is going to show the fans just why the champion has apparently kept out of his path for the last few years. Reynolds is declared to be master of many holds, featuring the head scissor. He is also credited with being a speed demon.

Webber has been in training for the match for over three weeks and looks fit for the toughest of matches. Being in the game for eight years, the local grappler has a mat record of two falls against him, Charles Renthrop, European champion, taking the first fall after the local man stayed for an hour and forty minutes. Webber promises the welterweight title of the world for La Crosse Monday night.
